THREATENS TO PROSECUTE COLORED MAN FOR FAILURE TO INSERT THE WORD "NEGRO" IN "HELP WANTED" ADVERTISEMENT

WHITE SCHOOL TEACHER ARRESTED FOR FORGERY AMOUNTING TO $1,100

Miss Norene Littler, graduate of the Teachers' College of Columbia University, is being detained at the matron's room of the county jail pending action by the city detective's department in the investigation of the forgery of checks totaling approximately $1,1000.

While Miss Littler admits having signed another person's name to checks, no charge has been lodged against her.

"I am sorry I could get the money to take care of the checks before she could find out about them," she said. "Now I cannot realize that I am in such a position—that I could have such a step. And like all my other troubles, they have come because I loved some one too much—it was because I wanted to be with her and I thought I never would be making the money to be able to take care of the checks."

Telling of writing her way through Columbia University, where she was graduated as a kindergarten teacher, speaking for the meditated voice and the serene, frank English of a woman of education and refinement, half-sobbing in broken spots as she went over her earlier life, the young woman declared she would yet be able to make the checks good, and said she believed she would be released soon.

May Help Others.

Then, relapsing for a moment into hopelessness and saying she had "given up," she declared: "But possibly it was ordained that this should come to me. I know that somewhere, with my education and my opportunities to travel, there is a good work ahead for me—and it may be that it is in that I shall learn to help girl after girl find it—trying to bring some hope back to those sore girls that I know are found here; I have simmered in them for so long that I feel perhaps I may be able to quiet some, but how much or how there were girls to whom fate had born so unfair is for the future.

It was the story of the woman wanting to "keep up appearances" that Miss Littler told, for she had wanted to go North to get in touch with the head offices of the surgical corset firm for which her employer, another woman, was the Southwestern representative. She was refused, declared, she "was the devil's own child" and that "the world is through hell for her"; and yet she does could not blame her for action when she discovered the forgeries of the three checks, one for $400 and two for $350 each.

"I was teaching for three years after having studied in Michigan and Illinois," she said, "and I developed a bronchial trouble which seemed to end up each winter in a spell of pneumonia. So I decided to visit my roost cousin South and I came to Dallas to visit her. I like it better and I came here.

Worked in Restaurant.

"At first, it was only rest. I took some work in a downtown restaurant, run by a woman. That was last February. A short time after ward, through a chiropractor I became in touch with the woman who employed me for the corset concern. Can't you keep her name out of the papers and save her being mixed up with this, please? I came to love her, and she invited me to go North with her—to visit her home in one of the older States, and to go on to the headquarters of our company. Then I was offered the opportunity to represent the company in another large Texas city, beginning this fall.

"I learned to me that I had to be there. I loved her and I wanted the opportunities that her offer gave me. I did not realize then what I was doing when I signed the checks. I filled out bills at the stores for the clothing I wanted, and a friend to whom I owed some money was needing it.

Pressed for Money.

"It was a case of my being pressed, pressed hard, for the money I owed. So I signed my employers' name to the checks, and I thought I could get the money for the clothes I had bought and to pay my other debts. After I had done it I thought to able to get the money to pay for the clothes I had bought and to pay my other debts. Always I thought I should be able to get the money to pay it back. I knew I could make several thousand dollars a year when I should have a business of my own, and I felt sure that some of the friends I had made would go on my note so I could get the money with which to pay back before my employer could learn of the special session.

"I do not know how she found it all out. I have realized now the folly of living from day to day and of not looking to the future. Captain Fitzhugh of the city detectives has interpreted to my father back in Michigan, and I am hoping that somewhere I can get the money to redeem the checks.

"But, my father—I do not know what he will say, with tears streaming down her face and sobs choking her voice. She says he and me and he may not. He is able to, but he did not believe in college education and I had to work my way through college and he would tell us that if we ever got out of ourselves.

Stylishly Dressed.

Miss Littler, as she talked in the matron's room, was stylishly dressed in a tailored suit of serge, trimmed with white of Georgette crepe and a dress of dark blue—an ensemble tasteful and stylish, yet conservative enough to mean flashy. She is tall and slender build, with auburn hair and brown eyes and a face evidencing refinement, and at the same time the unmistakable effects of her grief over her predicament. Frequently, while she told her short, but sad story, she sobs from the jail bench and pace the floor, straining her hands and wringing them.

Captain of Detectives Charles Gunn has said his investigation of the charges would be filed against the young woman as soon as he could ultimately be done, he said, that Miss Littler would be released and should be able to pay off the money represented by the checks and on the attitude of the bank at which the checks were cashed the bank would lose and not her employer.

White Woman Answers Negro's "Ad" For Housekeeper and Now Demands Balm For Her Injured Feelings. Checks and Bill of Sale Needed.

—Rockville, Md., Sct. 11.—Failure of Richard Genus, a respected and respectable Colored resident of Rockville district, this county, to state in a "help wanted" advertisement that he is a colored man is causing Genus a lot of trouble just now.

A few days ago Genus, who is a widower advertising in the Washington papers for a housekeeper to take care of his home and his children. In answer to the advertisement a middle-aged white woman traveled all the way to Genus' home after the job. Genus wasn't at home, but when the woman learned that he was Colored she became indignant.

As soon as she got back to Washington the woman wrote a hot letter to Genus, in which she demanded that he make her an apology for the shameful treatment she had spent for carfare and expenses of her trip, with something extra for salve for her injured feelings.

This was the beginning of Genus' troubles. He sent her at once enough to cover her actual expenses, which was about half the amount she demanded. This didn't suit at all, so Genus sent an acknowledging receipt of the letter and remittance demanded. This didn't suit at all, so Genus sent an acknowledging receipt of the letter and remittance demanded. This didn't suit at all, so she included in her letter threat to prosecute Genus if he failed to "come across" promptly. Genus worried quite a lot. Coming to the conclusion that he would have to call in a lawyer, he consulted counsel here and passed the buck to an attorney. He is now anxiously awaiting the outcome of his indocent effort to obtain a housekeeper.

TWO NEGROES LYNCHED AT JACKSONVILLE

Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 8.—Two negroes charged with murder were taken from the city jail here shortly after midnight and lynched. A mob of fifty men stormed the jail in search of Ernest Green, charged with attacking a white girl, but who had been spirited away. The mob then broke open the door of Green's cell and found the negro. The complainant was Assistant District Attorney Edwin P. Kilroe.

Mr. Kilroe complained that Garvey printed in August issues of his paper that Negroes should go to the city "ridiculed, hatred, contempt or ridicule" Garvey is the promoter of the "Black Star Line," which he has advertised as a steamship line to cross this country, Africa, Central and South America and the West Indies, for the Negro race.

Last March, Garvey, at Carnegie Hall, New York, delivered an address in which he condemned the lynching of Negroes in the South, and said in effect that if the Negroes would press a button when each lynching occurred a white man in Africa would be treated similarly. Transcripts of this speech are now being investigated by the Department of Justice, and the Lusk Legislative Committee.

NEGRO EDITOR FOUND GUILTY OF LIBEL

(By Associated Negro Press.)

New York, Sept. 11.—Marcus Garvey, colored, editor of the Negro World, was found guilty of criminal libel by Municipal Magistrate Ferdinand Mortier today.

He was held in $2,000 bail for trial in Special Session. The complainant was Assistant District Attorney Edwin P. Kilroe.

Mr. Kilroe complained that Garvey printed in August issues of his paper that Negroes should go to the city "ridicule, hatred, contempt or ridicule" Garvey is the promoter of the "Black Star Line," which he has advertised as a steamship line to cross this country, Africa, Central and South America and the West Indies, for the Negro race.

JESSIE JAMES' HOME TOWN GREETS WILSON

On Board President Wilson's Special Train, Sept. 6.—The presidential train stopped for nearly a half hour at Independence, Mo., ten miles from Kansas City, so that breakfast might be served to the President in the city.

Independence, noted as the birthplace of Jesse James, the outlaw, turned out a throng of nearly 5,000, mostly women in calico mother hubbards, to greet the President. He hurriedly shook hands with as many as could reach him.

The Irishmen, familiar with the lore of Jesse James, pointed out to the correspondents many historic spots where the bandit had held up trains of an earlier day.

WILLIAM MARION COOK'S ORCHESTRA AT STATE FAIR

CELEBRATED AMERICAN SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA TO BE SPECIAL ATTRACTION

Soothing savage breasts is not the half-dozen of them, as there is a latest love of rhythm in every breast in Dallas, white or black. The melodies of the world. You may have chance belong to the negrophile race who not in church—lulled like unconsciousness by the slumber evoking timbre of Sahlah harangue. Yet you will find these same sacred airs under a new guise wakefully inspiring.

Such is the magic wrought by William Marion Cook, conductor of the American Symphony Orchestra, and Negro—whose musical triumphs are known to the world—who will lead his band of artists, prominent over five years by any group of professionals, these thirty or more of the Colored race are exemplifying this new trend in the musical world of today. The orchestra will appear at the Victory Fair at Dallas in October.

As truly American as is its constitution, is the music which the Negro race has evolved from the rhythmic call of the African jungle. Even the ragtime melody, the latest song hit, has its origin in the Negro's love of sound the six lights and entire town—at or syncopation. Later day "jazz"—looked at askance by many professional high brows"—is strongly indicative of a new American genius which gives to harmony what "free verse" is to poetry.

Music lovers and others are equally attracted by the novel symphony to be rendered by these American Singers and Players. Cook's Symphonic Orchestra will introduce Saxophone and other instruments in the assemblage of Negro musical "mid plantation" melodies. Glimpses of the native humor which characterizes the race's artists have never successfully imitated even by the most proficient white professionals, Auditions and players will be "right on to the time" and "in the doing" which these performers infuse into their music making.

Southerners Oppose Universal Military Training

(By Associated Negro Press.)

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—Definite measures to organize Southern Democrats in Congress in opposition to universal military training were begun today when Representative Heflin, Democrat, Alabama, and a member of the House Military Affairs Committee, returned to the House, an army reorganization bill which provides for universal military training.

The attempt to line up Southern Democrats against the Wilson measure is based on opposition to any scheme for military training of Negroes. The contention is that such training would set up a new menace in the South.

The House administration support is made by Mr. Dent, and, in fact, Secretary Baker's plan before Congress a universal training scheme was framed with Mr. Dent's aid.

The Dent bill calls for the creation of a supplemental army and to administer the reorganization request for $1,000,000.

Delaware Federation Buys Home

(By Associated Negro Press.)

JAIL NOW NEARLY EMPTY WITH PRISONERS IN OPEN

Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 7.—There are now only eighty-four prisoners in the Fairfield County Jail here, against 300 two years ago, according to Sheriff Pease. Only one of these is a woman.

The great decrease is attributed to the coming of prohibition and the practice, recently started, of placing the prisoners on public outside work.

JOHN J. MILES, COLORED HEAD WAITER, HAS DISTINCTION OF SERVING MANY DIGNITARIES

Lord high cup bearers and lord high butlers to "his majesty the King," have little more experience in understanding the duties of their lofty and trending than John J. Miles, Negro head waiter at the Hotel Dennison, aged 64, and known from coast to coast—either by name or face—to tourists and patrons of the best hostelries. He has served all the presidents of the United States from Harrison to Wilson, from Theodore Roosevelt, with the one exception of Cleveland, whom he served twenty years ago, princes, lords and counts of varying rank, from the titled nobles of the Congress he has served with food are the best Presidents Grover Cleveland and William McKinley. He recalls having served Mark Twain, Joseph Jefferson, during his tour of the United States some twenty years ago, and the famous comedian Miles waited upon in the Hotel Plantation, Delmonico, N. Y.

Starting his career as a hotel waiter in the Hotel Dennison, Miles, Colorado, Yes, Miles has held high waiter's place in ten large hotels and cafes in the United States and now holds his eleventh place as head waiter in the Hotel Dennison. His treasures letters of recommendation from every one of the ten employers, all of which attest he knows how to wait. Every little detail of the caterer's art he has mastered to a nicety, and the Dennison is the hotel waiters enter him in these things. His knowledge of the art of service comes from the kitchen, every napkin or spoon that fails to the floor, every dish improperly set on a table or might have neglected. After the rush hour is over, Miles passes the waiters together and gives them a mild talk upon the events of the day. Charles A. Gorde, manager of

Big Syndicate to House Negroes

(By Associated Negro Press.)

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 11.—A syndicate of Negro capitalists, of which Rev. W. E. Brown Co., of this city is the head, holds title to three large properties in West One Hundred and Twenty-First street, New York. One Hundred and Forty-Second street, Seventh Avenue, and Lenox Avenue, to the value of more than $200,000. The properties cover over six acres, and include a number of apartment houses, flats and private residences. The properties were bought by the Rev. Mr. Brown Co. from a well-known real estate operator, in 1917, but, Secretary Treasurer Johnson has been named the Payton Apartment Company.

Andrew F. Stevens, of this city, vice-president of the corporation, says that the syndicate intends providing homes for Negroes only in the better sections in this city, "thus avoiding the congestion" heretofore. It is the opinion that usually conforms us, "safety, home-getting and pleasure-seeking."

WHITE MAN SAVES COLORED WOMAN FROM DROWNING

NEGROES PRESENT DIAMOND STUDDED WATCH AS APPRECIATION

(By Associated Negro Press.)

Augusta, Ga., Sept. 11.—If citizens of Washington and Georgia have any doubt about the facility with which the races maintain a close relations in the South, they should consider this city where there is a very large Negro population, but decide which there is seldom friction of any appreciable moment between whites and colored.

One of the most convincing evidences of the regard and consideration which each race accords the other was disclosed this week when a committee of well known Colored citizens presented a solid gold watch fob studded with diamonds, bearing his monogram. The gift was made to Strother Appreciation of his heroic act some two weeks ago when he risked his own life to save that of a demented Negro woman who was trying to commit suicide.

The irresponsible Negro woman had leaped into the canal, intent upon self-destruction. A passerby saw her struggling in the water and being unable to swim summoned Strother who, running a considerable distance, Strother, no auto mechanic, leaped into the stream with his clothes on, rescued the woman and with the aid of others, resuscitated her. He then quietly left the scene without revealing his identity.

Several prominent Negro citizens instituted a search for him and after the money to offer him some concrete evidence of their appreciation, but if he would accept a gift from them, Strother consented, whereupon the presented watch fob was presented to him in a few days later. The Negroes have also indicated their intention of raising the necessary affidavits and bringing the act to the attention of the Carnegie Hero Fund, in the hope that he will be issued a medal.

MAN CELEBRATES 131 ST BIRTHDAY.

John Shell of Kentucky Takes His First Auto Ride

By Associated Press.

Lexington, Ky., September, 11.—John Shell, said to be the oldest living man in the United States, today celebrated the 131st anniversary of his birth here.

He celebrated by taking his first automobile ride. He said that this is the first birthday on which he did not work and said he was anxious to get back to his farm.

Shell told newspaper men that he does not expect to live to see another birthday. "I am getting old now," was his explanation. He came from Leslie County to attend a fair.

Shell is exhibiting himself at the fair and will use the money derived in paying off the mortgage on his farm, he said.

Shell was first married at the age of 19, and lived with his first wife for more than ninety years. He lived seventy-five years in one house. He is the father of twenty-nine children, the oldest now living being more than 90 years of age.

Six years ago he married again at the age of 125. By his second wife he has one child, a boy age 5 years. He was at the advanced age of 74 during the civil war. He was born near Knoxville, Tenn, twenty years after the Battle of Bunker Hill, and was full grown when the war of 1812 began. He has seen the United States develop from a small nation to a world power.

He bears his age well. His mind is clear, and his eyesight is far better than that of many men still in their youth.

NEGROES CO-OPERATE IN HOME BUILDING.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Clubs organized among Negroes in the South by the Department of Agriculture and the State colleges are resulting in cleaner, premises, wells and spring houses and better repaired houses and cabins, a review of the work issued today by the department declared. The Colored people embrace with eagerness the opportunity offered through the clubs to improve conditions of their homes, it was stated. In 1918 1,563 rural Negro women's clubs were organized with 37,913 members, and 1,962 girls' clubs were organized with a membership of 50,955. The total Negro club membership is 103,377.

The Negro club women have organized 117 co-operative poultry breeding associations and fifty cooperative egg circles are the means by which they obtain a better price for their products.

A BIBLE STORY FOR YOUNG PEOPLE.—A BURNING BUSH. SPIRIT OF GOD INCARNATED IN WOOD, MANIFESTATION OF LIFE ETERNAL AND DURATION OF LIGHT AND LOVE; THAT THE INEXHAUSTIBLE GOODNESS OF GOD. The Eternal Light of Ages.

By N. W. Harllee.

Divine Light of the Ages, incarnated in a bush, the bush burns, but not consumed. Heat and light manifested, without carbon, without ashes, without residue. All of this sets forth a remarkable occurence, so contrary to the facts in the usual actions of fire and its behavior, an action the stranges of all the ages, and the strangest in the experience of all the manifestation of the very nature and constitution of the phenomenon of the increment of fire.

Light and manifestation in serial motion, smoke emitting, and no part of the mysterious tree is consumed, passing through all the phenomenon of fire. Burning bush, a bush on fire, a bush in the fire, a fire, a light that lights up all the vicinity around, shining in the face of the clear sky, and is reflected to the four corners of the heavens above.

The wind rises, the atmosphere is disturbed, the currents of wind rush in and passing through tthe branches of this wonderful tree, sending out the flames in delightful wavelets, now ripling, whirling, presenting an inspiring sensation, that steals upon one in the twilight when all is still, when the busy world is at peace, and the hour of rest is near after the toil of the day is finished, while the fire amidst the green foliage illumines spreading and festooned boughs with a scene mingled with molted and burnished gold. Gold among the evergreen leaves. The more the flames spread, more heat and more light are manifested, the greener the leaves appear and in fact, they seemed to be by the devouring flames and grow larger as the flames dart and among them. The usual sparkling is heard amidst the burning noice, the cracking, the populing, the snapping of the tendrils, but no harm is done the budding and blooming flowers, nor the delicious fruit, for this tree was ladden with a variety of flowers and fruit, and the leaves were for the healing of the nations. The tree itself was in the midst of every variety of vines that completely entwined its trunk and all the vines were in full bloom with its flowers germinating in its own species among its foliage, the fire leaping now and then among the evergreen vines around the tree, and bounding from the trunk through all the branches of the tree.

Now comes Moses, the great statesman and law-giver, the leader of his people, in deed solitude and meditation for the good of his people, he is now taking a walk in the forest alone, as was his custom in deep meditation, the prophet, priest and leader, comes upon this strange scene of the burning bush, fear seizes him, his whole body shakes like the leaves in the stirred by the winds, anr his knew trimble with unsteadiness, he walks with shamble steps, he falters, he reals, and would turn the angel from above guarding the tree, doing divinity duty, speaks, as Moses had completely turned around and had resouved in his mind to leave the enchanted place, just then he hears a voice coming out of the flames, which terifies him more, if possible, then the burning bush, but the voice was so gentle and mild in expression, at the some time so consoling and reassuring that it completely calms his fears, bids him to be at ease, and to make himself at home as it is the Eastern custom, and then it was that Moses turns himself about, facing the tree again, and the angel still speaking assuring and soothing words to the leader of his people, said, "Take off thy shoes, for the ground on which thou standest is holy ground." The angel till speaking, says holy because thou art in the immediate presence of God, that tree is not on fire of earthly fire, but it is the Spirit of our Father-God. It is the manifestation of His love to be incarnated and manifested in the flesh of a woman, the token of one that is to be both Priest and Prophet and King, the Eternal Prince of Peace. Of His days there shall be no end. The earth shall be full of His glory. He is to be the Light of the world.

Moses hears the voice, now becoming more composed, takes off his shoes, being in the atmosphere of the holy angels, and that of the Most High God, being entertained by the Heavenly Messengers, Moses and the angels talking together, they talk of the future, talk first of the meaning of the burning bush, and how that it signifies the coming glory of the Son of God, and what it should mean to the Gentiles, and the heathens in the uttermost part of the earth.

A great throng of angels are now present, coming as the special guests of the occasion, and gove strgth and added divinity to the hallowed place and to lead futher ecstatic joy to the once frightened Moses.

When the convew of agels shall hovering around, great strain of the sweetest music rise with the gentle crescendoes in wavelets corresponding to the flames in the bush, and which is measured by the same pulsation and rythm indulating in sweet cadences and melody and gentle dulcet born of the heavenly notes in divine redemption. These sweet strains of music swell out and reach the encamped hosts of the children of Isreal, who unconsciously take up the strain as if by intuition, rather by inspiration, instantly the whole camp becomes a great choir, chanting and singing in the same melodious sweet and gentle cadeneces of this angelic song.

The angels banished and Moses is now left to himself. Being alone, he thinks, he whispers to himself, he ponders, he asks himself if it was a dream or vision, was it a reality? After much reflection, and doubtful perplexity, finally resolved to take the whole matter to his God, who has always made things plain to him when he was in doubt. Moses prayed much that he may know what it should mean, and in order that he might be prepared for the ordeal, fasts three whole days, refusing eitther to eat or drink, in order that the mysterious events that had transpired before him might be made plain, for they stood out in his mind like mountain peaks in a hazy light of the beclouded day casting the shadows in the deep valleys below crowding out the light of he sun.

Moses now remembers that when the Hebrew children were doubt which road to their journey, a pillar of cloud was let down that met them at the forks of the roads, to direct them, and as they traveled along throughout the dreary day, night over takes them, and in order that they might be further guided, the pillar of cloud changes into a pillar of fire to guide them through the night, and he now felt sure that the same divine spirit would provide for him in doubt and uncertainty, and thus he confides and waits for interpretation from the higher divinity.

He is impressed with the divine spirit, the full meaning and the intent of the angels, and the event of that night out in the forest of the Wilderness. This impression is followed by a bright light above the brightness of the light of the sun at noon tide, that shone round about him, and out of that bright light came a voice saying that which had occurred would be revealed in the Acts of divine men appointed, called Apostles, the Acts which are to be a guide and inspiration to all times and for all people, for kindred and tongues, which shall be their beginning in the light of the Seven Golden Candle Eticks of Asia.

Moses' mind becomes reconciled as he is given a broader vision into the religious and civic affairs of all future times. That the flames in the burning bush is the same flame of fire that burns in domestic affairs, that burns in the affairs of state and nation, that spirit which is the fundamental of all government in church and state. The spirit of hope, the spirit of integrity, the spirit of filial love, the spirit that underlies all in all that keeps alive the inspiration springs eternally from the breast of the human family.

Returning to the occurrence of the burning bush, the greener the foliage became, the more intense the heat, the more verdure grew, sending out the sweet smelling aromatic oder that filled the air, attracting all who passed that way, like the oder of the fresh flowers of spring, kissed with the dews of heaven and laden with the sweetest breath of Nature. When once an individual sniffed the oder from this tree, it made an impression on his mind that lasts him throughout his life time, and at once formed a basis for all his future actions of justice, and straight life action, stirring him to seek the beautiful and serve as a stimulent to self activity.

A strange thing in the characteristic material of this tree was such that the searing and devouring elements seem to be the same as those four elements that give life to plants, the common rais, the genial sunshine, the air and the timely winds that make the plants steady in their growth.

The next few days after the occurrence of the burning bush, people who passed by were astonished at what had taken place, not only with the remarkable tree that still stood out, and pointed to them by Moses, the change in the other trees in the immediate vicinity, the under growth, and shrubbery and all plants, in every direction took on new life as compared with other plants more remote from the burning bush, but the burning bush had grown in many circles that required years in the ordinary process as compared with the other trees and plants. Throughout the long cycles of past ages, there has been much scientific discussion respecting the general and species its funda and its flora, its inhabitation; but no satisfactory scientific analysis has been given by botanists, and indeed, there can be none as this tree is of divine origin, and therefore far above human knowledge as the east is from the west. It surpasses the knowledge of the wisest men.

However, there is one tree that the scientists have overlooked, the Tree of knowledge of Good and Evil, the tree which contained within its being, the power of life and death. This same tree has existed throughout the duration of time. Burning bush is the same historical tree that grew in the garden, the one that our fore parents were warned not to touch, nor to partake of its fruit.

This burning bush is the tree of life. Its nativity is the soul of the redeemed, planted and watered by the grace of God, planted within the pure in heart, planted by the waters of the river of life. Tree of Life, the Divine Tree.

The Annual Addresses of the Supreme Knight and Supreme Empress were delivered Wednesday morning amid much applause. The whole of Wednesday and Thursday changes and adoption of a constitution held the attention of the Supreme Officers, State Grand Officers and Representatives. Hon. A. S. Wells, Lawyer B. Abram, Julia White, H. Campbell, J. R. Jordan, J. W. Wiggins, M. J. Carter, J. H. Anderson and others were in the lime light in setting forth the merits of features of the constitution which amid much discussion were adopted. After the adoption of many salient points it loomed up that the body would not be able to finish the work and then Hon. A. S. Wells presented a resolution referring the finishing of the committee with plenary powers to finish the constitution. Hon. A. S. Wells, F. B. Lakey, J. E. Williams, C. E. Thomas and M. D. Bogan were appointed. Thursday night the Annual Sermon was delivered at Mt. Rose Baptist church by Rev. F. B. Lakey, Supreme Chaplain together with a short program of a solo by Miss Roberta McElroy and an oration by Miss Willie Thomas. Today's session will mark the election of officers for the next four years, a grand trolley car ride looping the city, and installation of officers at Chester Park N. Central avenue and Hall streets. A complete story of the meeting will be given next week.

"MICKEY"

"Mickey," pretty Mickey, with your hair of raven hue"—who has not sung and heard sung the catching air of "Mickey.,' "Mickey" is a reality and Mack Sennett will have his premier presentation of his prodigious play of the same name at the Grand Central Theatre.

The sparkling, vivacious bit of femnity, Mabel Normand, has the leading role, and is casting no reflection on the ability of Miss Normand to say that she has lost her identity in its portrayal. Mickey is the appealing sort of girl who wins her way into a person's heart and ere long that person forgets that Mickey is only a shadow player of the screen, and they begin to believe that some living being is enacting a story of universal appeal before their eyes. And it is a story of universal appeal that is seen. A waif of a girl, a mischievous child who worms her way into the heart and leaves there a mark of approval that will never be forgotten. To enumerate the many incidents that take place in "Mickey" would take several columns of fine type. It is nothing short of a collosal achievement that Mack Sennett has made. In it will be found humor in the pranks of the mountain waif, love of the deep heartfelt kind, adventure that avoids fatalities by the breadth of hair, slapsticks comedy for relief, thrills that hold one spellbound, and tense dramatic action all blended into one great play. But the most noteworthy features of "Mickey" is its clean refined comedy, no drinking scenes that tend to bring to mind vulgarity, no drunkards with their type of would be comedy. It is just one long laugh at worth while fun of life at its fullest.

ADDITIONAL GUARD FOR JAIL AT KNOXVILLE, TENN.

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 8.—Following the repeated threats on the Judge of the Criminal Court and the Sheriff, additional guards were thrown around the Knoxville County jail tonight, where are incarcerated 52 white men charged with being participants in the rioting ten days ago, when the jail was wrecked. The jail guard has been strengthened and a machine gun placed in the jail.

FINE OF $100 IS IMPOSED ON "VAG" CAUGHT BEGGING

A fine of $100 was imposed in corporation court Monday afternoon on a white man about 25 years old who had been arrested by Detective Henderson for vagrancy. According to the testimony given in court, the man has been begging on the streets of Dallas recently. He is healthy and able-bodied.

After imposing the fine, Judge Robertson said that he would suspend the fine on the condition that the man leave town at once. However, if he is ever arrested on a second charge here he will be required to pay the $100.

LOUISIANA NEGRO LYNCHED.

Monroe, La., Sept. 6.—A Negro charged with an attack on the wife of a farmer near Merrouge, La., was taken from the Sheriff of Morehouse Parish today by a mob of forty men and shot to death. The Sheriff was taking his prisoner to jail when intercepted by the crowd. The Negro's name was not given in the advices received here.

HOW CANCELLED CORLAPSED WAR RISK INSURANCE MAY BE REINSTATED

1. Under the Treasury ruling of July 25th, 1919, War Risk Insurance which has been cancelled or lapsed may be reinstated in whole or in part withing eighteen months from date of dicharge under the following conditions:

A. The applicant must be in as good health as at the date of discharge, or at the date the insurance lapsed if lapse occurred after discharge, and must so state in the signed application for reinstatement (Form No. 742.)

B. The application must be accompanied by a remittance to cover two month's premiums on the amount to be reinstated. One month's premiums pays for the insurance automatically given the first month for which payment was not received; the other pays for the first month's premium on the reinstated insurance.

let us ,.:;ETAOIfareu O.......Pf9

For example: If a $10,000 policy was carried in the army by a soldier of 24 years, and dropped in any subsequent month, let us say the first of March, for instance, and application for reinstatement was made in a later month, let us say September for $1,000 worth of insurance; the soldiers would have to pay the premium for March and September for $1,000 which would be $1.32; if $2,000 worth of insurance was desired to be reinstated it would be $2,64; if $3,000-$3.96 etc.

After the soldier has reinstated the insurance, he could then make application to convert it into one of the permanent forms of Government insurance, i. e. a Straight Life or Endowment Policy.

MRS. W. M. McGEE. Aunts.

Rose Ball Notes.

On Monday, September 1, at 8 p. m., Kennedy, with his Black Cats were at the A. C. A. park in Jacksonville according to agreement. Umpire Snow called the game at 5:30.

Kennedy's Black Cats lost this game, 10 to 1, in favor of Jacksonville Black Tigers.

Kennedy's Cats scored on the first inning and the manager and all of them agreed not to try to score any more, but let the Tigers have the game, it being the only game won by Jacksonville on that diamond against the Cats this season.

Games played by Tigers and Cats 7. Cats won 5 and Tigers 2.

We regret that the report of the game on Friday, prior to the game of Sept. 1, as given by Jacksonville manager, was so inaccurate, for the score was 10 to 1 instead of 9 to 1. We forbid the game in the sixth inning on account of the decision rendered by the umpire. Umpire Snow at announced to the grand stand 5, to 5 in favor of the Black Cats.

The Tigers lost Saturday's game because they were too weak for the Cats. They were at the mercy of Williams and Williams.

Manager Vaughns, the Tiger manager, failed to stand by his agreement with the Black Cats. They had agreed to play nine innings in order to turn over to Kennedy his half of the gate receipts, without cause. We trust that no other visiting team will be treated in like manner. Saturday's game was played smoothly, and was witnessed by more than 350 people.

CARD OF THANKS.

Consolation is a great thing and is to be acted in the time of affliction. Such were the demonstrations shown by the friends of Mr. and Mrs. John Lloyd, during their sorrow over the death of their son, L. C. Lloyd, who departed this life July 27, 1919. For your kind and loving sympathy with beautiful floral offerings we extend our heartfelt thanks.

Signed:
MR. and MRS. JOHN LLOYD and FAMILY.

A. M. E. PASTOR, WINDING UP EIGHT YEARS WORK.

Rev. H. C. Carr, the sterling pastor of Bethel A. M. E. church reported this week to an Express representative that the winding up of the fifth year of his pastorial duties would soon be at hand and that the church just now is in splendid shape. Rev. Carr has the church well balanced, organized and disciplined and now awaits the action of the conference that will convene in Corsicana in October. Rev. Carr has built in Dallas a large church for friends who eagerly hope for an early return.

OCT 19 IS "TEXAS MAYOR'S DAY" AT STATE FAIR

Dallas, Texas, Sept. 4.—All mayors in Texas have been invited to be present in Dallas on Texas Mayor's Day of the State Fair. By official announcement of the State Fair management, Saturday, October 18 has been designated as "Texas Mayor's Day." At this time, the League of Texas Municipalities will hold a meeting, and the mayors will be guests of Mayor Frank W. Wanencraft of the City of Dallas at a dinner.

In addition to the State Fair and its exhibitors on Saturday, October 18, a number of other events will be attractions.

A business session of the League of Texas Municipalities will be held for the members of the committee recently appointed to draft measure for submission to the Texas Mayors, which would provide regulation of warm mature for the public utility interests of the state. On Aug. 17th, the League of Texas Municipalities held an open meeting for the purpose of discussing these questions. Representative of fifty live cities were present, and letters were received from many more who could not attend. At this time it was generally understood that a measure of some description should receive power for the million was assuming, and the meeting finally agreed upon the appointment of a committee to draft tentative provisions. It was the plan to later call a meeting of the Texas Mayors and submit the matter, for their approval, after a copy of it has been sent to each for consideration and study.

Mayor Wanencraft of Dallas, President of the League of Texas Municipalities, appointed a Committee Composed of the following Mayors to consider the matter: A. E. Ammerman, Sherman; Hon. Jno. Kirby, Houston; J. Reader of Cricket; A. H. Ford of Denison; Hon. Jno. Kirby, Houston; Hon. Jno. Boerhaugh of Abilene.

In order to properly finance the activities of the League in its organization, as urged by Mayor Wanencraft and others for the purpose of protection of the respective interests of the cities and towns against the utilities, it was decided to levy an assessment upon each city on the basis of one cent per capita for each person, according to the 1910. census. Although it was the intention to provide the appropriation at this time, many of the Texas Municipalities were not fixed to sustain the contentions that it was illegal to appropriate funds from the city funds for this purpose and Mayor Wenencraft was the first to deposit the appropriation of his city.

In order to fully protect the city, he later announced that should any subsequent court hold the appropriation illegal that he would personally refund the money. The money to be collected will not be used for any purpose except the proper drafting of a bill to be presented to the legislature at its earliest session, if possible, for the curbing of utility power. It was specifically agreed that no paid lobby would be maintained to urge its passage.

A number of state officials as well as Governor Hobby, are reported favorable to such regulatory measure, and when a measure is agreed upon it will have the support of the cities and towns alike in contravention to former instances where the utility interests have succeeded in breaking large cities from the towns and vice versa.

The preliminary draft of the bill will probably be taken up at the Dallas meeting on Texas Mayor's Day, October 18th. Dallas is making plans to entertain the Mayors in a fitting manner.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1919.

PARSON CAMPBELL, OUR SELF-APPOINTED LEADER.

Man, in his endeavors to adjust his behavior to meet the demands of new environments that are being continually thrust upon him, often finds himself in a loss to determine the most expedient course to persue. Especially is this true of the Negro race which has exchanged the duties of a slave for the responsibilities and obligations of a full-fledged citizen of this great Republic.

It is a far cry from abject slavery to intelligent citizenship in such a social organization. Indeed, to make such a transition, as it were, overnight without proper guidance or preparation in a Hercules task for no people in any age has before it been called upon to perform. Indeed, it is a task that requires the careful study of the most cultured and mature under the conditions that obtained at that time, and one of the greatest crimes that has ever been perpetrated against organized society. The crime committed against the Negro race was little less than that against society. The Negro has been led by the nose to be legislated for by any doctored change in his relations to the whole of society. It is to be learn that his advancement in the scale of civilization depended upon his environments and intelligent adjustment to the customs and usages of society. This gave him a false conception of the duties and obligations of the rights and privileges that accompany them. Thus handicapped he began his career as a citizen of this great Republic.

Truth be told, we have not by most the higher duties and responsibilities of citizenship. Without a doubt the ultimate success or failure of any people depends upon the character of its citizenship. That he has been standby and persistently demanded of his rights and privileges that are the sacred rights of the law-abiding citizen is a fact so patent that no attempt is made at its consideration.

In the face of all this, certain self-appointed men have, in an effort unduly to come before the American people with the assumption that there is no just ground for complaint on the part of the Negro citizen. Among the chief of leaders of this sort is our dear old friend, Parson L. Campbell of Austin. He asserts "There is no race problem in this republic. The races in the South are on good, friendly and peaceful terms and where the Negro accepts the advice of his white neighbors he is secure in his home."

When we consider that the Negro, being the chief subject of the lynching mob, and that part of the lubertine class and that part of the detention of organized labor, we can readily see that a statement of this must be. The condition of the laboring man in this country, even under the protection of great organizations, forms the subject of many congressional legislation today. That labor conditions must be improved and will be conceded by intelligent men of all classes. That the Negro will be the last served in the conclusion that is to be reached is a foregone conclusion that needed no argument to make clear to us. The negro and living conditions in Negro labor are far worse than that of organized labor and we cannot expect the solution of the Negro is to continue his progress to a higher plane of living. Burdened down with his laborer troubles and discriminated against by prejudice and discrimination, the Negro is not in position to make any progress in the matter of industrial problems just now. This kind of optimism is certainly unwarranted by the facts of history.

If the goal of man's existence was to get along smoothly and show evidences of intelligence, then the world life become one round of pleasure. Should surrender to every point or vantage when called upon to do so by the whim of any one. To abandon any occupation when requested to do so by the whim of the world surrounding rights and privileges guaranteed to him by the laws of the land. Should he do this he could do with impunity if he expect the world would see to get along smoothly. Had America submitted to taunting without representation the revolutionary war would not have occured and the world have been with no United States of America. Had the world submitted to the arrogance and audacious German superiority there would be no need for the world's war. Had we got along smoothly, we celebrate to not the fourth of July celebration. Neither can it be one of the Negroes ideals when it ceases to be a matter of all that makes life worth the living. Mr. Negro is asking only smilige jingoism the law. This is sound advice but he fails to suggest that the Negro be allowed to help frame the laws that he is asked to obey. This is the fundamental principle upon which a democratic form of government. By further admonishes the Negro to stay in his place. This cannot be said to you, but he fails to enlighten the Negro just what his place might be. Likely he is to obtain this information from his white neighbor.

He further advises him that he should not be led astray by the loud-mouthed by purposeless classes. Again some wholesome advice in given free public. How is the Negro to be able to distinguish those purposeless classes, by the usual means we suppose, his white neighbors.

Mr. Campbell's reference to the peaceroves of social equality and "Jim Crowism" we are forced to admit is not clear to us. To our best knowledge and belief no organized effort by these white neighbors with whom the Negro is to look for advice and counsel. If Mr. Campbell has been sincere in his former address to the Negro race and the editorials prepared by the pharmacist of his own selection.

The profound assertion by Mr. Campbell that he is glad to thank God for the color of his skin nor the color of the skin of any other man is indeed original. We doubt in a case of calamity if he was not by nature so constituted. However, we suggest his further discussion shows that he has not entirely overcome the diseases for segregation and discrimination. He shows low opinion of the knowledge of racial characteristics when he says that he at the root of race prejudice. We believe that Mr. Campbell is sincere in his belief that he loves the meanest Negro from the north. We believe that he would not mistreat him but he has found a leading to some to return to the "flesh pots of Egypt" and that he is one of those sanes persons who have learned such a lesson. Campbell will again find themselves emigrating. Mr. Campbell observes that the Negro race remains at his post is making progress. In so far is right. We regret, however, suggest that the way to progress is by the most unselfish kind of service and the sacrifice of raising himself to a higher plane of life and manhood that he may gain respect and co-operation of his white neighbors. It is a false conception that unless the causes that led the Negro race to flee from the fertile valley of the nile into the barren wilderness of the Peninsula Sinai from old England to the wilds of America have been removed the Negro will still in time desert the South will be a misconception of the situation that we will be ever due to our failure to improve his conditions in other lands.

Notwithstanding lots of blood and treasure has been spilt on the battle cement in the white race, we have failed to remember that not all white men are not the enemy of the Negro race.

There has been no time in this country's history when the Negro has been more free to move not willing for a Colored man to have his rights under the law. Let the Colored people arise to show that he deserves his rights, for merit is not without reward.

Bridle your tongue for the good of your race and keep your thoughts to your own good.

Now be it, as to church on Sunday.

FOR THE SPIRIT OF TRUE AMERICANISM.

Strictly non-partisan, with the advocacy of the foremost Democrats in the country, is the spirit of the three men who have advanced the true American spirit in the Democratic Convention at Austin. The Democratic Association is meeting with splendid success in its organization and is now in its campaign work for the campaign to be conducted Sept. 20-27.

The Roosevelt Memorial Campaign in the Democratic Convention in Houston is borne completely by the Democrats of the President and every cent subscribed will be used in the campaign to perpetuate and add immortal to the "truest American of them all." Not a cent of the money raised will not be a campaign fund conducted along lines of previous campaigns. There will be no urging placards. There will be no urging of subscriptions.

It is numbers and not large individual contributions that the committee is seeking. It feels that every American citizen will be made to feel the spirit of admiration for Colonel Roosevelt and will be glad to contribute to the "truest American of them all." Every dollar will not be a campaign fund but will be used in

A picture never to be forgotten is the kind of a picture that "Mickey" is. The premier presentation of Mack Sennett's world famous play will be at the Grand Central Theatre.

"Mickey" is a combination of everything that pleases the theatre patron, pathos, humor, tense dramatic action, thrills, and here and there a bit of slapstick farce for relief. And all is so blended that it runs smoothly and upholds the spectator's interest to the last. The film is making history and breaking the records of all theatres in every city in which it has played and audiences and critics the world over are proclaiming it the best word in motion pictures. Mabel Normand as the star has never been so better advantage, while Mack Sennett, the director has shown his skill in doing the hardest thing in the world—making people laugh. After seeing "Mickey" they do it spontaneously, when the situation that caused it is over the audience notes that it was realistic and not forced. Every human emotion, every element of fun, is shown and Mabel portrays them with genuine artistry and versatility. It sparkles with humor, it is full of fun and frolic, it sparkles with humor and bubbles over with laughter. Those who miss "Mickey" will do so at the risk of missing one of the finest and cleanest comedies that the screen has seen in many months. The Dramatic Mirror in a recent criticism says in part: "Mickey" is one of those rare comedies that meets all the requirements in the way of pleasing the most critical of audiences." And from the same writer sits the Dramatic Mirror is right.

Manager Harris, after months of negotiation with the owners of this picture, has finally succeeded in obtaining this extraordinary attraction for the patrons of the Grand Central Theatre at the small admission fee of 15 cents and 25 cents, war tax included. Absolutely the first time this picture was ever shown at such a small admission fee.

Featuring TOM MIX

In a Five Reel Western Production
The Wilderness Trail"
Matinee Saturday 2 P. M.

THRILLING MOMENTS.

(In a photoplay which thrills throughout, these points still are marked by an emotional power which lifts them above all the others.

When Tom Mix and Bob Jordan engage in a fight to the death in the deep snow, each armed with a knife, each armed with a knife. This battle, which required half an hour to film, is one of the most realistic and hair-raising ever seen in a motion picture.

When Tom Mix finds his sweet heart at the mercy of two drunken ruffians in a cabin in the desolate snow waste, and attacks the men, killing both after a desperate struggle which the girl watches in fear and trembling. This scene is calculated to cause the spectators to rise from their seats.

When Mix, attacked in a cabin by a gang of fur thieves, attempts to escape by the window and his gun is caught by the window frame, preventing his egress. This scene includes a battle by Mix against tremendous odds, and calls for every fight stunt and expedient of which Mix is master. It is a marvel of skill and physical

MADALINE TRAVERSE IN "ROSE OF THE WEST"

A play which, it is said, thrills with vital human interest will be shown at the MAMMOTH THEATRE next Monday, with Madaline Traverse as the star. It is called "Rose of the West," and is described as a vivid photoplay of the northern wild. The scenes are laid in a country that is visited only occasionally by Indians and the patrol of the Northwest mounted police.

The story is that of a brave woman who fights against the plan of her brutal husband to sell their daughter for a gold field he has secretly discovered. At one point the husband, absent for several years, is supposed to be dead, and Miss Traverse, as Rose Labelle, is about to marry the head of the mounted police, when her husband reappears. The situations are described as intensely dramatic and full of suspense. "Rose of the West" is declared to be the strongest play in which this beautiful and talented star has appeared.

TO OUR MANY FRIENDS AND PATRONS OF THE MAMMOTH THEATRE

Please remember that on Sunday, Sept. 14th, our price of admission will be increased—Adults 25 cents; Children under 10 years of age, 15 cents. We feel confident that our many friends and patrons will still support the clean amusement that this theatre has at all times tried to afford and meet the management on a fifty-fifty basis. This increase is due to the heavy taxes film rentals and cost of house operations. We want to assure all of our patrons that all times you may feel confident of seeing the best of motion pictures—at this theatre—and a place where courtesy is the watchword. • • •

An amusement house for the Colored folks—where you can bring your wife, sweetheart or mother and know that they will be shown every courtesy. Remember Sunday is the starting date for our new mystery serial "TRAIL OF THE OCTOPUS."

Thanking you for all favors shown this theatre and the management in the past—and still wishing for your continued patronage. I am, yours for clean amusement,

WAR COMMUNITY SERVICE NOTES OF SEPTEMBER 1-6.

The Girl's Gee Club met with Mrs. Pitman at noon. Twelve ladies were seven o'clock. This is an opportunity that our young people ought not to neglect. Few communities are fortunate enough to have services so freely given by such a finished artist as Mrs. Pitman. Let us encourage the girls and boys in the Dallas Colored high school to second to none in music. Many of the best musicians as well as efficiency. Our girls have much natural ability, why not add training to that and in so doing we will increase the appreciation of the best in music.

At the close of the week was the sing Song at the High School Park which was attended by a crowd of over three thousand persons were present. Congratulations are due the Sing Song Club and the management of the affair in hand. Mr. Jerome Wright, who was selected as the leader of the songs soon had his audience responding heartily and with true community style. The artists were Mrs. Lucy Wright Wee Miller and Mrs. Adkins. Mrs. Miles delighted the audience with a solo and responded to the encore. Mr. Wright responded with her rendition of a simple ballad and received the hearty of her audience.

Mrs. White, Mrs. Pitman, Mrs. Miss Jones and Mrs. Wright added to the success of the day by their part. The two speakers of the evening were Mr. Lawyer Will Walker and Mr. Oliver. They both spoke to the point and were heard with interest. Mr. Walker introduced them. Dr. Hawkins, master of ceremonies, soon had the audience in a mood to sing and to respond to the singing.

Mrs. Mary V. C. C. S. organizer, introduced Mr. Carrier, the National Boy Scout Director, who led the audience in the singing of a few songs.

The weekly girl's community sewing was held at the Community House Sept. 12th with twenty present, and spent the afternoon in sewing for the needy.

The committee made a few remarks to the girls and women during the time of sewing. They made suggestions to demand from the young men all that is necessary to make a true woman hood. This can only be accomplished by the co-operation of the women.

A group of young men went out to the Fields on Tuesday evening and solicited the officers and men with the Community Service. Their response was most gratifying. The evening was entertained by a group of young women who met after in the evening to play games.

On Monday evening, representative men and women of Dallas met in the Community House to consider the matter over of W. C. C. S. as Community Service. The following committee of five was appointed to report next Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the Community House of Dallas as every is present at this meeting as it is a matter of vital importance to the community.

About four-hundred and thirty-two soldiers and and sailors took advantage of the free use of the swimming pool last week. Many visitors called and registered themselves as pleased with the appearance and conduct of the place.

Mrs. Young's reception is planned for the coming week.

Mrs. Hawkins, Mrs. Chase in Business Efficiency, Miss Avis Caldwell, Secretary.

Tuesday, Sept. 9th—Girl's Glee Club, Mrs. Pitman in charge, Mens' Business League.

Wednesday, Sept. 10th—Weekly Sing Song at Park.

NEGRO AWAKENING IN SOUTH AMERICA.

Large Delegations to Attend "Self-Help Session" of National Race Congress in Pan-American Congress, 2-11—Local Units Being Formed in Every Section—Dr. Du Bois Makes Careful Note of Event Day by Day.

Special to The Express.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—Word is being received from many States by the officials of the National Race Congress of America indicating that interest in the Sixth Annual Session—of that organization, called for the 16th city October, 1919, is growing by leaps and bounds, and that large delegations will be present.

It desired by Negroes of the Republic that the exact date of this session be kept thoroughly before the people in general, to the end that the deliberations of the National Race Congress may not be confused with other conventions called about the similar in name, also announced for the same time in the same locality. The organizations are separate and distinct, and while the National Race Congress of America is primarily a similar union among Negroes for race protection to be emphasized and in the methods of reaching the results to be achieved. Delegates planning to attend the Race Congress in October will bear in mind that the convention which they are being solicited will assemble here October 7th to 11th inclusive, and that the organization will be known as the Pan-American Union and 17th Streets Northwest of which Rev. J. W. E. Bowen is president. It will govern themselves accordingly. Any information desired will be cheerfully furnished by the officials of the organization, or Prof. John R. Hawkins from the Treasury Department, 14th and Street Northwest.

Dr. William E. Hawkins, executive secretary of the National Race Congress of America and Dr. Du Bois, Director of Publicity and Research of the N. A. A. C. P. reports a constant inflow of subscriptions from colored churches, fraternities, clubs, and individuals responding to the appeal issued by the Congress. Such unfortunate race happenings here and in other places have deeply impressed upon our people the necessity for the maintenance of the principles for which the Race has for just such emergencies, and Prof. Hawkins is confident he will be able to make a showing at the October convention that will be both surprising and inspiring.

The Negro press is lending a cordial support to this movement, of the people, by the people, and for the people," and there is every reason to believe that October 7th will bring to Washington the most progressive representatives of the race that the nation has ever witnessed.

Race News- of General Interest

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 11.—In an address before the 44th annual session of the Baptist Foreign Mission Convention, which came to a close here on Thursday afternoon, Dr. E. D. Jones, of New York, secretary of the League of Darker Races of the World, urged that Japan keep the Shantung Province and that China defend her territory in Abyssinia.

He said the question of the disposition of the African colonies would come before the Peace Conference when it meets in Washington in October.

Rev. W. H. Jernagin, of Washington, made a plea for interest in the forthcoming session of the Race Congress in Washington, asserting that in the momentous times the Negro must be on guard to secure his rights.

The Association elected Rev. Jones Watkins, president emeritus; Rev. Thomas Fenwick, president; Rev. W. A. Taylor, Washington, Vice-President; R. B. Page, Virginia, Recording Secretary; Rev. Junius Gray, Washington, Corresponding Secretary; J. B. Brown, Virginia, Treasurer.

The following were elected Vice-Presidents: Rev. Dr. Hawkins, Baltimore, President; Mrs. Lucy Brown, Virginia, Vice-President; Mrs. Bertha Winston, Vice-President; Mrs. Mary Young, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. A. Robinson, Washington, Treasurer.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 11.—George W. Lee, Negro insurance agent, lawyer, who was elected Grand Exalted Ruler of the Elks, is the first Negro ever elected to the high office. Mr. Lee was educated at Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., graduating in 1895. He studied law at Howard University. After practicing a while in Evansville, Indiana, he came to Memphis, Tennessee, and established himself with Mr. Robbie Church, the first Negro woman to practice law in the United States, as legal adviser of the Elks. He is married and has several children.

Binghampton, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Appeal of Boy Scouts, recruiter from the Boy Scouts of the city, will be organized in the near future according to the announcement of the Boy Scout Executive Leslie R. Mathews, of Binghampton, N. Y. Mr. Mathews is a member of the Mt. Olivet Church on this subject.

A new movement was being made in this district, in organizing a patrol of Boy Scouts. Mr. Mathews told his audience. He said that he had had a conference in connection with Negro boys than it is with white boys, and that there is a great advantage can be evened up, he said, by the efficient work done under the leadership of some competent church worker. This has been carried out in other cities.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 11.—The Crisis Publishing Co. of the Race Development League was organized last night with over 200 Negroes as soldiers' and sailors' club. This is the first Negro organized exclusively for the Negro service men and it is the intention of the officers to make this the only asset of its kind in Allegheny county.

The following officers were elected: R. E. McKinney, who was elected Commander; Thomas E. Barton, vice-commander; D. C. Jefferson, adjutant; E. R. McKinney, treasurer; R. F. Peters, historian, and the Rev. Bishop H. Bishop, chaplain. The newly elected chaplain preformed the services of the parish activity house of the Church of the Holy Cross for a meeting place for the new organization.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 11.—More than 500 persons have come to Omaha during the past week according to labor officials. Three hundred have come to the Sault Ste to work" movement in packing houses. Most of the others are idlers.

The influx of Negro labor has been the heaviest for the past three weeks. South Side police have been on the alert as the newcomers showed little inclination to work. No disturbances have been reported to police.

An increase of 25 per cent in Negro membership for work has been credited by Armour & Co.'s employment office.

New York, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Republicans in the Nineteenth Assembly district of Manhattan, which is the heart of the Harlem Negro section, have nominated Edward L. Dudley, who is a member of the Harlem Men School Board, for Assemblyman.

It is expected by Republicans that they will place in the field as an opposition candidate Hubert Fauntleroy Soldate the Rev. R. Bolden of our race.

The aims of the leaders are to save the Negro vote for the Republican party, to insist on the Negro registering and to get out the largest number possible on election day. Every election ever held in this city and county.

A new precinct system was adopted whereby captains are to be placed in each ward to look after the voters in this end. George C. Schenck, a former assemblyman and a veteran of the war, is one of the active spirits in this organization and manager of the club. He stated that the success of the movement depended largely upon the approval of the whole people and the co-operation especially of the Negro soldiers young voters and the Negro women.

"Our organization," Sergeant Schenck said, "is a result of the Negro soldiers' return and is going to help everybody everywhere. Our vote must be registered and voted. Before we knew we have experienced the mismanagement of the party now in power and return to the old Republican party of our fathers and the party of American Negro. Their vote must be registered undivided and free for the grand old party."

LAKE CHARLES.

Lake Charles, La., Sept. 11—Sunday school was fine and well attended. Rev. Jones preached in the absence of the sick 1st.

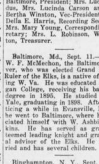
Mrs. Sadie Gurley has a play ground in charge until Mrs. Gow. Mr. Lofton returns for her presence will be missed.

Mr. Curley Josephine from Apollonia, La., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Jones.



J. H. DIXSON,

Sept. 8, 1919.

J. H. Dixson, wishes to be understood by his own people.

He writes a letter to the Express and begs to say that in reading some remarks at a public Sing-Song given at the City Play Grounds, failed to throw any light on matter in question, and has caused much criticism on me. Accompanied by Mr. Holloway, the Manager of the Colored Community club, I called on the reporter of the Dallas Dispatch, and asked him to clear up this mis-leading statement. In the minds of so many who was not present he knew my speech. That he promised to do, but up to this date nothing has been said. So I take this method of setting the matter right, and to say that I made no such statement as the reporter of the Dispatch said there are some of the best citizens of Dallas in the audience.

"Speak right to the point" was the term so far as I can remember.

"Equal rights to the courts for all citizens of which he is accused, and unless citizen be participated without discrimination because of race.

"A right to sit upon the jury which passes judgment upon him.

"Defense against lynching and burning at the hands of mobs.

"Equal service on railroad and other public carriers. This is most clear-cut service, dining-car service. Pullman service at the present time is not what it should be and is unsatisfactory.

"Equal right to the use of public parks, libraries and other community services for which he is taxed.

"An equal chance for a livelihood in public and private employment.

"The abolition of color-kyphenation and the substitution of 'straight Americanism.'"

NATIONAL RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE EDUCATION OF THE NEGRO.

Reprinted from the Educational Review, Vol. 58, No. 1, June, 1919.

The Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution made the Negro a citizen of the United States. By fiat of law the status of the chattel was suddenly transformed into that of the citizen. The National Government is wholly responsible for the creation of Negro citizenship, a responsibility which involves the obligaton to prepare him for his new function in the government. Carried away by the heat and hysteria of war, the statesmanship of that period did not consider all of the consequences growing out of this momentous act. It was deemed sufficient to invest the newly emancipated slave with a garb of citizenship, without preparing him to wear the unaccustomed garb becomingly. His education was left to the afflicted states, which had recently been disrupted and disorganized by the ruinous ravages of war. The ill-fated Freedmen's Bureau undertook in some slight measure to fulfill tthe national obligation. But for the most part the freedman was left to shift for himself in his upward struggle from ignorance to enlightenment. It was hoped that his enfranchisement might enable him to exert the requisite influence on the policy of the several states, leading to the establishment of adequate educational provision. Amidst all the imperfections and misdeeds of reconstruction, actual or alleged, there stands out in bold relief one clear redeeming feature. Actuated by the purpose of qualifying the Negro for the proper exercise of his citizenship function, the reconstruction governments established the public school system in the several southern states. One searches in vain for any record of southern statesmanship, before or since the Civil War, fraught with greater benefits to both races than the public provision for the education of all citizens, established by the much-maligned reconstruction governments.

But actual experience soon demonstrated what prudent provision should have foreseen, namely, that the recently impoverished and distracted southern states were not, of themselves, able to maintain adequate school system for the efficient education of both races. There heroic efforts must be supplemented by national provision, or else the South for many generations must lag behind other sections of the nation, and the efficiency of the nation, as a whole, will be seriously impaired.

We are apt to be misled by statistics of illiteracy showing the remarkable rapidity with which the Negro is acquiring the use of letters. Beginning practically at the zero point of literacy, at the time of his emancipation, the rate of literacy had arisen to 70.6 per cent in 1910. The rapidity with which the Negro race has been literalized, has been considered the most marvelous attainment af the past century. In the the period of fifty years a considerable majority of its members has learned the use of letters. This is a much larger per cent than is shown by many of the historic races of the old world.

The mere technical acquisition of letters, however, is a matter of very simple attainment. A few months' schooling is sufficient to communicate to the individual the oral and phonetic symbols of knowledge, and the method of combining them into written and spoken speech. The letters of the alphabet constitute a key with twenty-six notches, which unlocks the accumulated storehouse of the wisdom and experience of mankind. But the mere possession of this mystic key is of little value unless the wielder has a previous appreciation of the wealth of wisdom which the storehouse contains. The Red Indian or any other savage peoples might acquire the ability to read and write with a single generation but if they still cling to their ancestorial and traditional ways, without the curiosity of incentive to understand the secret and method of civilization, their mere technical attainments would be of little more value than a curious intellectual gymnastic. Altho 70 per cent of the Negro race can read and write, comparatively a small fraction of that number actually do make an efficient use of their attainments. In the states which require a literacy test for the exercise of franchise, the great bulk of Negroes es are excluded because of their inability to meet this simple test; albeit the statistics of such states show a high average of Negro literacy. Of course it would be unbecoming to intimate that a sovereign state would be guilty of the deep dishonor of depriving its citizens of fundamental rights by cunning device or tricky contrivance. Statistics of illiteracy are misleading because the individual's pride which indisposes him to have his ignorance acknowledged and recorded, often leads him to render misleading answer to the query of the enumerator.

At Camp Dodge, where there were 3600 Negro conscripts from Alabama, no one of whom, under the terms of conscription, was over 31 years of age, the Young Men's Christian Association found that over 75 per cent of them were unable to read or write effectively, notwithstanding the fact that the rate of Negro illiteracy in Alabama, according to the federal statistics, is only 40.1 per cent. There is one conspicuous outstanding fact, that the great majority of the Negro race are not able to make use of literary knowledge to improve their efficiency, or measure up the standard of an enlightened citizenship.

When we considered the woeful inadequacy of provision made for Negro education, there is left no room to marvel because of this alarming result. According to reports just issued by the Bureau of Education, the State of Alabama expends $1.78 per capita for each Negro child, the state of Georgia $1.76, and Louisiana $1.31. These states expend from five to six times this amount per capita for the schooling of white children. It is conceded that even the provision for education of the white children of the South is scarcely more than one-third of that for the education of a child of the North and West. If it requires $25 per capita to prepare a white child in North for the duties of citizenship, whose powers are re-inforced by racial and social hereditary, by what law of logic or common sense, can it be expected that $1.31 will prepare a Negro child in Louisiana, who misses such reinforcement, for the exercise of like function?

I am not bringing this glaring discrepancy to light for the purpose of condemnation or denunciation, but merely to describe a situation furnishing a basal argument for the necessity of national aid to Negro education. Without such aid the southern states must continue for generations under the heavy handicap of a comparatively ignorant and illy equipt citizenship.

It is a fatal mistake to suppose that the efficient education of the Negro can be conducted on a cheaper scale than that for the whites. The fact that his home environment and his general grade of life is lower, makes adequate educational facilities all the more expensive. $1.31 per capita applied to Negro education in Louisiana accomplishes even less, in effective results, than a like sum applied to the whites. Imagine the educational status of Massachusetts, if the state should suddenly reduce the provision of public instruction to the level of the cost of Negro education in Louisiana.

Philanthropic to a commendable degree has served to supplement the deficiencies of the southern states for Negro education. But neither the individual state nor the United States has the moral right to depend upon voluntary philanthropy to prepare its citizens for the responsible duties and obligations of citizenship. At best philanthropy is only a temporary and inadequate makeshift. As huge as philanthropic contributions seem to be in the aggregate, they amount to little more than one dose of medicine in the hispital, when compared to the magnitude of the task which they are applied.

A generation ago Senator Henry W. Blair of Hampshire, devoted his public career to the promulgation of national aid to Negro education. They array of facts and arguments which he marshalled in support of his propaganda, was undisputed and indisputable. The urgency of the need has been emphasized by a generation of neglect. It is said that the Athenians banished Aristides because they grew weary of hearing him called Aristides, the Just. By parity of ungracious procedure, Senator Blair was thrown out of public life because of his loquacious advocacy of national equity and justice. But his cause still remains. The nation has merely deferred payment on a debt which sooner or later must be liquidated with accumulated interest.

At the time of the Blair Educational Bill there were lurking suspicions in the minds of opposing statesmen of political and partisan advantage, and sinister sectional animosity concealed under the guise of Federal aid to education. The doctrine of local sovereignty was sharply accentuated; but opposition on these grounds has weakened with the intervening years. There still survives a statesmanlike duty of the nation to meet its moral obligation to the least of its citizens.

It was unfair to the southern states to require them, unaided, to prepare the Negro for duties of citizenship at the time of his enfranchisement. The nation as a whole was responsible for the condition of the Negro. The fact that slavery became a localized institution was not due to the inherent deviltry of the South nor to the innate goodness of the North. Slavery was a national institution and became localized under the operation of climatic and economic law. It is equally unfair today, to require the South to hear the heavy burden alone. The Negro problem is the nation's problem; the remedy should be as comprehensive as the need.

In democracy, as in ethics, the individual is the ultimately unit, and there must be essential equality among the units, or else the fabric of democracy, like the fabric of ethics, must fail. Under the traditional attitude of the white race toward the Negro, it was supposed that the guiding intelligence should be lodged in the white man's brain, and the muscular energy in the Negro's arm. But the circuit is too long. In a democracy each man must think as well as work. The country can no longer look upon the Negro merely for his utility as a tool, must regard his totality as a man. An ideal American citizen is not that of a working man; but that of a man working. The presence of the ignorant Negro lowers the general average of efficiency of the community in which he lives and of the nation of which he forms a part. Georgia with half of its population practically illiterate can never hope to keep pace with Iowa, which strives to make every citizen intelligent and efficient. The United States can never reach the desired goal of efficiency, until it utilizes the undeveloped energies which lie dormant in the brain and brawn of every citizen.

So far I have dealt with the demands for Federal assistance to primary and elementary education, which imparts to each citizen a more or less well understood minimum of necessary knowledge and standard of efficiency. But there is a higher sense in which the nation is obligated to the cause of Negro education. At the time of his emancipation the Negro was left wholly without wise guidance and direction. The sudden severance of personal relation which had existed complacently under the regime of slavery left the Negro dependent upon his own internal resousces for leadersip of his higher and better life. The discipline of slavery had illy fitted him for this function. It had imparted to him the process without the principle; the knack without the knowledge; the rule without the reason; the form without tthe philosophy. If the blind lead the blind they will both fall into the ditch. For want of vision people perish. The professional class constitutes the higher light of the race, and if that light within this race be darkness, how great is that darkness.

The Negro teacher meets with every form of ignorance and pedagogical obtuseness that befalls the white teachers; the Negro preacher has to do with very conceivable form of original and acquired sin; the doctor meets with all the variety of disease that the human flesh is heir to; the lawyer's sphere covers the whole gamut involving the rights of property and person. The problems growing out of the contact, attrition, and adjustment of the races involve issues which are as indicate as any that have ever taxed human wisdom for sultion. If, then, the white man who stands in the high place of authority and leadership among his race, fortified as he is by superior social environment, needs to qualify for his high calling by thoro and sound educational training, surely the Negro needs a no less thoro general education to qualify him to serve as philosopher, guide, and friend of ten million unfortunate human beings.

The federal government should make some provision for those who are to stand in the high places of intellect and moral authority. In the western states where philanthropical millionaires are scarce, and where the average citizen is not able to support the system of education on the higher level, the state undertakes the task of maintaining high institutions of learning for the leaders in the various walks of life. The Negro is unable at present to maintain such institutions for his own race; he is dependent upon a remote and vicarious philanthropy. The chief benefits of the higher workers among the Negro peoples insures to the community, to the state, and to the nation. Dr. James, the president of the University of Illinois, has for years advocated with great power of persuasion the establishment of a national university. Any of his arguments may be multiplied by ten, when applied to obligation of the government to support at least one higher institution for the education of the Negro race.

Already thru Land Grant and other federal funds, the government in cooperation with the several states, is supporting agricultural and mechanical colleges for white youth. Some provision is also made for the Negroes in the states where there is scholastic separation of the races. But these agricultural and mechanical colleges are essentially schools of secondary grade and can not be maintained on high level of collegiate basis. It is easy for the federal government to extend the application by establishing and maintaining at least one institution of technical character and collegiate grade, which might serve as a finishing school for the work done in the several states. The Negro needs to be rooted and grounded in the principles of knowledge on the highest collegiate basis. The federal government has already acknowledged this responsibility in the moderate support which it gives Howard University as the national institution of the Negro race. This acknowledgement of a national responsibility, let us hope, augurs early ample provision for the education of a race in its upward struggle to the fullness of the stature of American citizenship.

It is needless to inject in this discussion the intricate and tangled issues of the race problem. Suffice it to say that ignorance is a menace to intelligence, sloth to efficiency; vice to virtue; and degradation to the dignity and decencies of life. Just as the government thru adequate federal agency stamps out the yellow fever, cholera, and other infectious diseases, so it must, sooner or later, exterminate ignorance, which is more menaceful than any other plague that afflicts the nation.

Reed for Chireno. Services were good all day at the First Baptist church. The covenant meeting at 11 o'clock was grand. At 6:30, the B. Y. P. U. went over the top with good attendance and much interest was demonstrated. Messrs. M. Benton, Jr., Jerry Willis, Jr., Tutson Blount and Otis Reed brought out many helpful thoughts on the lesson. Miss Dollie Benton is the wide awake president of the Union and she is asking that every young man and woman meet her next Sunday at 6:30. At eight o'clock, pastor Bolton spoke with unusual force, using for a text Luke 11:21-22, subject "The Strong Man vs. the Stronger Man." There was a great shout in Zion. The W. H. M., Society met Monday evening with good attendance. If you wish to be well intertained come with the sisters of the First Baptist church. The church and W. H. M. Society are making preparation to go to Beaumont, next month to the Sabine Valley Progressive Association which meets with the Sun Light Baptist church, Rev. L. Reed, pastor.

CUNEY.

Cuney, Texas, Sept. 11.—Everybody in this section is getting ready to begin gathering cotton after being away from their fields of labor attendng the great revival at Rock Hill church, attending the State Negro Business League, and the revival at Cuney Chapel, the latter which closed Sunday night with six additions to the church.

Rev. Edwards of Bartlett, Texas, is visiting his brother, Mr. Eugene Hill and while here delivered an excellent sermon and also assisted in the meeting at Cuney Chapel.

Rev. R. Halem, our worthy young pastor of Cuney Chapel closed a most interesting meeting at his church this week.

Prof. E. Ford of Rockwall has completed a telephone system here and everybody is taking and praising Prof. E. Ford. Let other communities get busy and connect up with Cuney at once.

Sunday school and B. Y. P. Y. was both well attended yesterday also both report a good collection

The State Negro Business League closed the most interesting and lively session at Cuney, ever witnessed by a League from both the points of attendance and in finance. It left the community very much encouraged and determined to do more for the uplift of the race. We welcome the League back to Cuney at any time.

Mr. O. P. Pinkard, who has been reported on the sicklist was seen walking around on the streets today.

Mrs. Fannie Hardaway and family of Ponta were in Cuney this week visiting the State Negro Business League.

We had several parties from Nacogdoches, this week buying homes in Cuney. Mr. E. Garner, John Clay, and S. V. Kissentanner are doing carpenter work in Jacksonville, this week.

The slogan around Cuney for this week is good roads and better roads. Everybody in each community is busy working and grading their settlement roads.

Mr. John Bragg, one of the leading cattle men of the state sold a carload of cattle in Fort Worth, a few days ago, he is also operating a modern steam gin, two grist mills, one run by steam, the other by gasoline engine and is now installing a shingle mill. Let other enterprising men follow this example.

Mr. Will Bragg is visiting in Dallas, this week. Prof. John L. Hamilton and wfe are visiting in Cuney, this week. Rev. H Williams of Gilmer, Texas, was in Cuney, last week, visiting the State Negro Business League. Rev. Williams is an enterprisng farmer.

Mr. Newton Ewells together with a number of the citizens of both Sand Flat and Cuney worked and graded the road connecting Cuney and Sand Flat.

CUNEY.

Cuney, Texas, Sept. 11.—The Texas Negro Business League met in its 13th annual session Sept. 1 and 2, 1919, at Cuney, an exclusive Negro town.

This meeting was to be held in July, but owing to the prevalence of so much rain at that time it was postponed until this later date.

In point of attendance and general interest manifested by those that attended it was one of the largest and most profitable sessions ever held during the life of the League.

Our president, Hon. R. L. Smith, being absent on account of the pressure of other business, Dr. H. C. Boykin of Cuney, was elected to preside over the session, which he did with the ease and dignity of an old veteran.

While Hon. H. L. Price, secretary for the league for the past ten years was the only State officer present, he served everywhere and proved himself one of the races greatest leaders. While the league was attended mainly by farmers, they got got right down into the spirit of the meeting and discussed fully every subject on the program. Everybody was satisfied and their only regret was that the league session did not hold a week instead of two days.

One of most interesting features of the league session was the farm exhibit made by the farmers of the Cuney, community. Here was exhibited some of the finest corn, cotton, peas, peanuts, pumkins, cushaws, cane, sorghum preserves, pickle, can goods, and needlework.

This was displayed in the school house near the church where the league was held and it soon became the center of attraction, as the farmers were busy for nearly two days piling in the finest specimen of the products of the home and of the farm.

The display of the farm products was made under the artistic eye of Rev. Thos. Simms of Cuney who was chairman of the decoration committee. Taylor Wilson was chairman of the committee that got up the farm products and every member of the committee seems to have done his or her whole duty and we regret that lack of space prohibits us from giving the names of both of these committees. After looking over the farm products a rare treat was served to the members of the league in the form of a dinner made of Cuney products only. This was a dinner worthy of the God's and showed that Cuney, if segregated from the balance of the world could live in peace and in plenty.

This committee under the leadership of Mrs. R. A. Price, served dinner not only to the members of the league but to every one that attended the League Tuesday.

Tuesday, Sept. 2nd, 30 minutes were devoted to memorial exercises in honor of our late State Organizer, Hon. W. E. King. It was the concensus of opinion that the Hon. W. E. King had done more for the uplift of the Negroes in Texas than any other man in the south.

The following officers were elected: R. L. Smith, President, Waco; H. C. Boykin, Vice-President, Cuney; J. F. McGowan, Vice-President, Livingston; H. Strickland, Vice-President, Dallas; Jesse Washington, Vive-President, Seguin; H. L. Price, Secretary, Cuney; H. Newsome, Assist. Secretary, Troup; C. A. Barrett, corresponding Secretary, Texarkana; J. J. Hardeway, Treasurer, Houston; E. M. Griggs, State Organizer, Palestine; H. Williams, Dept. State Organizer, Gilmer; A. T. Woods, Dept. State Organizer, Ponta; Executive Committee: W. C. Price, W. D. Thomas, J. L. Hamilton; J. H. Johnson, C. L. Butler, G. W. Crouch, A. D. Cleaver, J. L. Sneed.

Prof. H. Newsome of Troup was here with a well organized brass band which assisted the Cuney Jubilee club in furnishing music for the League. This was a rae treat and everybody was delighted as this is a good band and is composed mainly of small children.

The Cuney Jubilee club was another important factor in making the League meeting a success. These young people deserve much credit for the talent displayed at this meeting.

The League was much disappointed at the failure of President Smith to attend the session as we know that he would have enjoyed this meeting, the farmers exhibit, and the Cuney dinner.

The next session of the League will be held at Jacksonville, Texas, July 4th and 5th, 1920.

The farmers display at the League has encouraged the farmers of Cuney to organize a Fair Association which will hereafter maintain an annual fair.

RUSK.

Rusk, Texas, Sept. 11.—The Palestine District Sunday school Convention met in Mt. Pleasant C. M. E. Church, Sept. 2 to the 7th. Rev. E. G. Young, P. E. All the charges made splendid reports except Waco, Grapeland and Morrill.

The preaching was done by the following ministers: Revs. E. Powell, W. M. Ford, B. W. Williams, O. B. Johnson, H. P. Boxley, R. B. Edmund and E. G. Young. A splendid paper was read by Miss L. M. Seals on "What the Convention Should Mean to Your Sunday School." This paper was approved by the convention.

The following is the amount raised by the Convention: $568.99. The District went over the top.

President W. R. Banks of Texas College, was present and made a very excellent address to the Convention.

Sisters Hogg and Fuller stirred the convention as never before with the little band of missionary boys and girls.

There were three additions to the church.

The next convention will be held in Crockett, Texas, in 1920.

Miss Hannah Ellis and Joseph Hicks went to Tyler, Saturday morning, where Miss Ellis is under treatment of an eye spcialist.

Mrs. Millie Sartain came in from Beaumont to visit relatives here for a few days.

Mrs. Eva Scott left for Alto, Friday night.

Mrs. Lizzie Jones of LaPort is the guest of her sister, Mrs. N. L. Weems.

Miss Beatrice Battle left Sunday for Prairie View.

Mr. Jesse Cumbo, mother and sister, Miss Artie, motored to Tyler, Tuesday.

Mrs. Lizzie Simmons and children spent a few days in Houston County.

President W. R. Banks of Texas College spent a few hours in the home of his friend, W. H. S. Seals, during the past week.

Mr. Oscar Alexander went to Texarkana, Tuesday.

Cherokee County teachers are in session this week in their institute which is being held n Jacksonvlle.

Mr. Jewel Sanders is reported to be in a very critical state of health, at this writing.

The hospitality of the Rusk people was the talk among the Convention visitors.

Rusk is convinced that Texas College has an ideal president, in the person of president W. R. Banks. In his splendid address to the convention, president Banks urged the members to take note of the rise of the C. M. E. church in the United States. He assured all that this growing demonstration was making a record that all should be proud of. He warned the returning Colored soldiers to be very cautious in their speech and behavior, for the general welfare of the race. President Banks has just returned from a northern and eastern trip and he gave the convention some valuable points as the result of his careful observations.

Mrs. Maggie Cook and daughter, Miss Ruby are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Egbert. Mrs. Cook, who now lives in Dallas, was formerly from Rusk, and she is spending a few days among her relatives.

Rev. S. Garner deserves much credit for his smooth management of the affairs of the Sunday convention. He is a tireless worker and he is very popular with his congregation.

The various members of New Mt. Olive church rendered valuable service to the Mt. Pleasant people. Several of the Baptist friends entered enthusiastically into the musical part of the program and Rev. Parks was on hand at the devotional services.

The Presbyterians gave service to the convention by the presence of Rev. J. M. McKellar, who is always interested in such progressive movements.

HELPING THE NEGRO RURAL CHURCH.

By Wm. Anthony Aery.

Wile the Washington race riots here recently being reported on the front page of American newspapers and were causing the nation to bewail the fact of racial misunderstanding and ill-will, a significant Negro rural preachers' institute, lasting four days, was being quietly held at Bettis Academy, which is situated on a sand-covered hill some 6 miles from Trenton, S. C., and about equidistant from the cities of Aiken and Augusta.

Dr. James Hardy Dillard of Charlottesville, Va., formerly dean of Tulane University and now president of the Jeanes and Slater Boards, with the assistance of a group of white and Colored co-workers, conducted a most helpful institute for the benefit of Negro rural preachers, who are unquestionably the most influential of all community leaders throughout the South.

Team-Work Brings Results.

In spite of the torrential rains, which fell steadily for nearly a week and made traveling over the clay roads and poorly constructed wooden bridges almost prohibitive, except to the fearless and determined, more than one hundred and seventy-five preachers enrolled for the institute work—and a large number remained throughout the four days.

The credit for this large attendance was due to the splendid team work of Alfred W. Nicholson, president of Bettis Academy and his large committee of untiring, broadminded workers. Then, too, an inter-denominational appeal was made. "Christian service" was the institute slogan.

The preachers' enthusiasm for the class-room lessons ran high. Dr. James E. Gregg, principal of Hampton Institute, gave a course on "How to Make a Sermon"; B. C. Caldwell, who is associated with Dr. Dillard in the Jeanes and Slater Board work, on "Ministerial Correspondence"; Jackson Davis of Richmond, Va., field agent of the General Educational Board, on "The Church and the Neighborhood"; W. T. B. Williams, field agent of Hampton Institute and school visitor for several educational boards, on "Church Records and Finance"; and Dr. Dillard, on "Bible Interpretation."

Neighborhood Co-operation.

Not only did the local Colored population house and feed many of the visiting ministers, but they also sent to President Nicholson very generous supplies of beef and live chickens, Irish potatoes, beans, tomatoes, cabbages, and watermelons.

White friends, realizing the significance of having such a constructive racial gathering under the auspices of Bettis Acadmey which is deservedy well-known for its good influence among Colored people, also made generous and unsolicited contributions.

The White South's Interest.

The State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Hon. John E. Swearingen, Columbia, S. C., who is a nephew of the late Senator Tillman, spent two days at Bettis in visiting the summer school classes, which had attracted about one hundred and fifty South Carolina Colored teachers, and in attending the meetings of the ministers' institute, Mr. Swearingen brought with him J. A. Brannon, who has been for several years the white State Supervisor of Colored schools. Other white visitors included James L. Quimby, of Graiteville, S. C., who is a large store-keeper, a bank president, and the chairman of the Bettis Academy board of trustees; a couple of local white ministers(Messrs. E. C. Bailey and J. P. Lupo); and President A. D. Betts of Payne College, Augusta, Ga. The informal addresses of these men showed clearly that Bettis Academy is thought of highly by local white Southerners. This is, of course, an invaluable asset and should be more widely known.

Negro Preachers Give Thanks.

Perhaps the best evidence of the preachers' belief in what Dr. Dillard tried to do for them through this practical institute, may be found in a portion of their Resolutions, in which they ask for a repetition in these quaint words:—

"We request, we urge, we beseech, we beg, we even pray, that Dr. Dillard, in the abundance of his resourcefulness, should listen to and heed our 'Macedonian cry' to the extent that he should either find a way or make one to have a similiar conference held next year at Bettis—and thereafter annually."

The Resolutions also expressed a fervent desire and sincere appreciation of this institute of the Christlike spirit of the workers, and also of President Nicholson's faithful and efficient service through nearly thirty-five years.

Nobody could read these Resolutions carefully without feeling that the Negro rural ministers, of South Carolina in particular, men who are torch-bearers to their fellows, are well worth helping along many, many lines. Such an earnest plea and such sincere thanks must be rewarded!

Negro Leaders Speak

Rev. G. Lake Imes, dean of the Phelps Bible Training School at Tuskegee institute, who has been helping the General War-time Commission on the churches, spoke helpfully on "The Problem of Improving the Country Church." He has also made a first-hand study of rural churches in Macon county, Alabama, and offers as a solution of many common problems the introduction of better organization in all departments of church work in the form of a "pastor's council."

W. T. B. Williams, a graduate of Hampton and Harvard, "who knows more than any other single man in this country about the inner workings of Negro schools from Maryland to Texas," to quote the late Dr. Booker T. Washington, spoke on the rare opportunities for social service which now come to the Negro preachers and teachers.

"Those countries," he said, which had the largest average intelligence were best able to stand the strain of the World War. Everywhere the neglected classes brought some serious trouble. The war revealed to the people of the United States that our neglected class was far larger than anybody had expected.

"Today there are in the South two million, two hundred and twenty-five thousand people who cannot read or write. Such men do not make good soldiers or good workmen, as compared with better-trained men. The welfare and civilization of the Southland are in the hands of black leaders. White leaders who open closed doors and awaken interest in Negro education are helping to make possible a remarkable progress along all lines."

Rev. Silas X. Floyd of Augusta, Ga., secretary of the National Association of Teachers in Colored Schools and a well-known writer, spoke on "The Life-giving Power of Religion" to men and women who wish to bring the Kingdom of Heaven here on earth. "No longer can preachers succeed by the preaching, shouting, singing, and getting-the-big-collection method," he said. Today social-service work must be supervised by the Church and preachers must be intelligent, tolerant, and unselfish to achieve the highest success. Preachers need to be interested in all the people all the time."

Better Race Relations

While the preachers' institute and the summer session for teachers were not held primarily to discuss the question of race relations during the critical reconstruction period, both these organizations in their noonday and evening joint meetings came face to face with some of the basic facts which must be bravely faced by white and Colored alike. Dr. Gregg struck an important note when he said:—

"In the South there is a growing temper and disposition among white people to give the Colored more of fair dealing. There is more disposition among white people to look into the actual conditions of Negro schools. This is no time to be discouraged or bitter, or to stir up things that lead to strife. We must all stand firmly for truth and justice. We must solve the problem of turning private opinion into public opinion. Men must have in their hearts nothing of hatred or bitterness or malice. They must cherish the spirit of good will."

Issued by Rev. Byron Guner for Sept. 23rd.

Hillburn, N. Y., August, 23, 1919.

By the consent and authority of the President of the Executive Committee, I hereby issue this Call for the Twelfth Annual Meeting of the National Equal Rights League, to convene in the city of Washington, D. C., Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of Sept. 23, 24 and 25, 1919.

All branches of the National Equal Rights League are entitled to representation by as many delegates as they may desire to send; all former members of the League, or former members of any branch thereof, and all other organizations or race bodies, religious, fraternal or civic adopting the principles of the league may become voting members of the convention by offering proof to the credentials committee, by means of credentials or otherwise, establishing this fact and by payment of the registration fee of one dollar for each delegate.

It is vitally important that Colored Americans get together as speedily as possible. It is equally important that said getting together should be under the direct auspices of the great National Equal Rights League, the one race organization that was foremost in getting the cause of the oppressed Colored American clearly presented to the World Peace Conference. Let all organizations come affiliated as above provided.

William Monroe Trotter

The only unhampered Colored American who went to France in the interest of our oppressed people was that matchless hero, Wm. Monroe Trotter of Boston.

The account of Mr. Trotters "under-sea passage" to France, and his marvelous achievements while there in behalf of his oppressed people, is the most interesting and remarkable story of modern times. Those who may have to travel hundreds or thousands of miles to hear that wonderful, story will be richly rewarded for their efforts. The race has only one Wm. Monroe Trotter and he is in the fore front of the race's great organization.

The recent World War, the Colored Americans part in that war, together with some recent race conflicts in this country since the war, have combined and, as it were have, "shot" the race question to the very front in the thought and life of our great country. And now, as never before, is the most opportune time for Colored Americans to come together under their own appointed leaders and by united effort, keep our cause to the front until we shall have made America a safe place for us to live in.

Meet us in Washington, Sept. 23, 24 and 25.

Yours in behalf of the N. E. R. L.,
BYRON GUNNER,
Chairman Executive Committee.

MANY NEW SPECIAL DAYS HAVE ALREADY BEEN APPOINTED FOR COMING STATE FAIR.

Saturday, Oct. 18th—Texas Congress of Mothers' Day, Reunion of Rainbow Division, A. E. F., Mary Sharp College Day.

Sunday, Oct. 19th—Closing Day.

Dates unassigned — Good Roads Day, Republican Day, College of Industrial Arts Day, League of Municipalities Day.

Many other applications are now pending.

Those wanting special days appointed for any associations, societies, clubs, lodges, churches, or other organizations, are invited to write Secretary W. H. Stratton, State Fair of Texas, Dallas, Texas. Especially is it desired to know whether additional state reunions shall be held.

"THE BATTLE OF CHATEAU-THIERRY" — STUPENDOUS PYROTECHNIC SPECTACLE WILL BE GIVEN NIGHTLY BEFORE THE GRANDSTAND AT THE STATE FAIR.

"The Battle of Chateau-Thierry" in the application of a new, mammoth, pyrotechnic military spectacle, commemorating one of the most historical achievements of the world war, that will be presented at the Victory Fair in Dallas this fall.

This will be produced nightly before the grandstand. The scenic setting, or picture, is 450 feet in length. It is painted from photographs obtained from the War Department, taken before and since the battle, so that it is historically correct.

The city, with its many well-known points of interest, is shown with the Germans in control just before the battle.

Then the entry of the U. S. Marines is shown, and there is pictured before the audience the turning point of the European War in picture, panorama, and pyrotechnics.

The bombardment of the historical city is shown. The destruction of forts, the blowing up of the bridges over the Marne, the wiping out of the trenches of the Huns with modern engines of war, including siege guns, tanks, barrage fires, gas screens, representing the troops of the Allies and of the enemy, correctly costumed and fully equipped.

The battle scene that will be enacted in connection with this production will be under the direction of trained military men, and will be the most thrilling and spectacular war drama ever staged.

It will be a page from history told in lines of fire and tones of thunder.

Soldiers and marines who have returned from the firing lines 'over there" will take in the battle. They will represent the Allied troops and the enemy.

It will all be as true to life as the ingenuity of the skilled mechanic, tist, military men and directors can tist, military men and directors can make it.

The stage is set on a gigantic scale, hundreds of people participate in the cast, representing high military officials of the United States, Allied and German armies. There will also be companies of soldiers and marines of many nations, Red Cross nurses, homeless refugees, picturesque natives, all correctly costumed.

Experts who have seen this production declare that the accurateness to detail, the realisticness displayed, the historical exactness shown mark "The Battle of Chateau-Thierry" as a master conception. To see it once, is to want to see it again.

REPUBLICAN NOTES OF GENERAL INTEREST.

New York—Phonographs will be used by both Republican and Democratic parties in the approaching presidential campaign according to announcement here. The plan embraces a program which will permit the residents of small towns and remote hamlets to hear the speeches of eminent orators at the same time that the reports are released in the large cities. The phonographic campaign will be opened early in September when records containing utterances by Senator Lodge for the Republicans and Mitchell Palmer for the Democrats will be released.

Washington, D. C.—Complaint that the policy of Postmaster General Burleson has resulted in a practical breakdown of the service and that it cannot stand up much longer at the rate it is going has been made to the House committee on post office expenditures by officers of the postal employes organizations. The testimony of the organization will mark the beginning of a general inquiry into the department and its expenditures, according to Representatives of the Roosevelt Memorial Association from five states met here recently and fixed the quotas and and dates for conferences as follows: Texas, $150,00 conference, September 18th, 19th and 20th. Oklahoma, $100,000, Sept. 5th; Louisiana, $50,000, Sept. 3rd; New Mexico, $10,000, Sept. 10th.

Chicago—Arthur Barge Farewell, president of the Chicago Law and Order League in a statement, declared that of the 5.8000 saloons still open in this city more than 1,000 are violating the war time prohibition law by selling whiskey and beer. Twenty eight saloon keepers in the downtown district were arrested by Federal officers recently and it is said that more than 35 additional warrants will be served.

San Antonio—Master in Chancery Frank H. Booth, who was appointed by Judge Duval West to hear testimony in the case of the application of the San Antonio Street Railway Company for an increase in fare from five to seven cents, has recommended that the suit be dismissed from the Federal Court for want of jurisdiction and power to act in the matter. The master held that in his opinion relief sought by the company could only be obtained from the city commission or from the legislature. He also pointed out that the city did not guarantee to the company a return on its investment.

Portland, Ore.—Charges that approximately $5,000,000 of government funds have been squandered, misapplied and converted to the prospective uses of the Milwaukee railroad interest were contained in a report telegraphed to Secretary of War Baker by the Congressional Committee investigating operations of the Spruce production division. The report declares that the expenditures were "wasteful and unnecessary" and concludes by saying that further investigation may disclose conditions showing who is responsible for this wasteful expenditure of public funds."

CONCERNING YOUR HAIR.

Invention of an Expert Chemist.

You probably have tried all sorts of remedies on your scalp without getting the desired results, until you have become discouraged and lost confidence in all hair remedies. Thousands of others, like yourself, finally turned to using Seeby's Quinade, and have been so pleased with the result, they would never again waste their time or money using anything else.

Quinade is not an orainary pomade; it is highly medicated and is a real scalp food. Quinade stimulates and nourishes the roots of the hair, causing a natural growth of long, straight hair. It will make coarse, stubborn hair soft and silky and easy to put up in the style desired. Quinade will positively allay itching of the scalp; and dandruff, which is the real cause of most hair and scalp troubles.

To get best results from the use of Quinade, one should shampoo the scalp every two weeks with Seeby's Quinasoap, a soap made entirely of pure vegetable oils. Quinasoap lathers very freely and is a thorough cleanser. It leaves the hair soft and fluffy and imparts a refreshing feeling to the scalp unequaled by any other shampoo.

Insist on getting Seeby's Quinade and Quinasoap, asking for them by their full name. Price is 25 cents each. If your druggist or dealer does not stock these two articles ask him to obtain them from his wholesaler for you, or send us the price and we will mail them to you direct.
