FORT WORTH

Port Worth, Texas, May 12, 1921.

"Mother" held the place of honor in all Port Worth churches Sunday morning, May 8, 1921. The service was practically all of the sermons were built. When he was brought unto Adam, he came filled with the Holy Spirit and gave her the most sanctified and the most glorious of appellations. He called her Eva, that is to say, she was the glory and the preciousness of woman. All of Port Worth flowers of either white or red and all of Port Worth gave honor to her. He said that he died for us upon the cross in the last hour, in the unutterable agony of death, and the love of His mother, as the read to us, that His Holy love should be our mine. I thought, the last point of death from which the soul should take its flight for heaven. Let us

Mrs. C. D. Booker, 1212 E. Leland street, was tendered a birthday dinner, Sunday at the residence of Mrs. C. D. Booker and sister, Mrs. Baker's Chapel, Humbolt Street. It was crowded to its utmost capacity. Thursday night May 5, to see one of the greatest events Fort Worth has ever witnessed, "The Style Show" given by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pratt for benefit of church. The stage was beautifully decorated. The music was sweet and harmonious, while the living models were graceful in their appearance and showed real style. So wonderful was the event that one of the models carried off three prizes and named the many as "Taken by the whole of the audience."

After visiting Mrs. Maggie Brown, 930 11th Avenue, Mrs. Mary Dellums of Corsicana has returned home.

Prom now on the Dallas Express and Chicago Defender can be purchased at Dr. W. W. Humphreys drug store, corner Evans Avenue and Rosedale street, as well as the other reliable place, The Temple Fur Store.

Mr. N. H. Ford, 1168 Tyler street is anxious we hope for Mr. Ford a speedy recovery.

Miss Rose of Sherman is visiting her sister, Mrs. Moore, Luella Street. Mr. Tom Turner, 912 E. 3rd Street, was painfully hurt Tuesday at 8th and Jones streets. He is now at St. Joseph's Infirmary.

Mrs. J. P. Reece, 1308 E. 9th St.

As his guest her cousin, Miss Jaunita Shanks of Columbus.
Mr. and Mrs. Joe Clark of Marshall is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Johnson 122
E. 9th Street.
Mrs. I. L. Frazier has opened a first class laundry on Crawford Street.
This shows great race enterprise.
Mr. Frazier should do well as it is the first of the kind in Fort Worth.
We wish for him success.
Misses Cleodiosa and Theodore Sampson of Dallas visited Mrs. M. entertained Prof. W. S. Young with
J. Crabbe, Sunday and Monday.
Pride of the South, F. A. M. entertainment Saturday night, May 7th.
Many brothers and O. E. S. members were present and enjoyed the afternoon. Prof. Young leaves the city this week for Orange, N. J. The

The Polk Song Festival given under the auspices of the Colored High School, at the First Baptist Church (white) Monday night May 4, was quite an interesting affair. About 500 white and Colored witnessed the Song Festival and declared it to be the best ever given in Fort Worth. Mrs. L. B. Jones won the prize in the contest, she having sold the highest amount of tickets. The Dallas Express and Chicago Defender can be found at the Drug Store, The Economy Drug Store, Evans Avenue and Rosedale St. Also the Prospect Drug Store, Clifton St., N. Fort Worth.
